Ephesians 4:4-6 New International Version (NIV)

⁴There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called to one hope when you were called; ⁵ one Lord, one faith, one baptism; ⁶ one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

Some thoughts from Pastor Alana;

My favorite Christian Mystic and Theologian is Julian of Norwich who lived during the 4th century in Norwich, England. In fact, one of my classes in Seminary was entirely about her life, her visions and her writings. She was an Anchoress. An Anchoress was someone who lived in a small room (called a cell) attached to a church, and never ever left there. She had a window into which she could look into the sanctuary and so participate in worship. And she had a window to the street where she could look out and people could come by and ask for prayer. The church supported their anchoress.

Julian of Norwich is celebrated by the Episcopal Church, the Church of England and the Evangelical Reformed Church. The Catholic Church respects her greatly, but she has not been canonized by the church.

Before becoming an anchoress, Julian became ill and had numerous visions that she wrote about. Her writing dealt with love and what she called "one-ing". One-ing meant seeing the world and everything in it as connected; related, and coming from God, the Creator.

One of the conclusions that very Spiritually minded Christians like St. Julian of Norwich seem to come to, inevitably, is that all of life IS inter-connected and inter-related. It seems that when we take time to contemplate and meditate on God and on the origins of life, this one truth emerges.

It takes a lot of work to get to that place of seeing and feeling the interconnectedness of all that is living. I've spoken with you before about the importance of spending time just "being"; of letting go of thoughts we are preoccupied with; of thinking about God and only God and the gifts we receive from God. Doing this is called a "practice" and believe me, it does take practice.

It seems though that those who are able to reach this point of experiencing the interconnectedness of life also begin to enjoy and appreciate life very much. It is much easier to feel love for one another and for all of God's created world when we have this connection.

As we begin a new year, we have an opportunity to focus on "practicing" drawing closer to God. Most likely, each of us would have our own ways of doing this. I know that I feel closest to God when I've been out in nature and then respond to what I've seen and heard by surrounding myself with art supplies, jotting down my thoughts, and drawing or painting in a large journal full of clean white pages. My journals become "picture-books".

So, how do you best relate to God? What do you do to allow yourself to feel the presence; to sense the inter-connectedness of all of life? Is this something you could use some "practice" at doing?

My prayer is that in this new year we will have opportunities to do some exploration of the more spiritual side of our religiousness. I'm not thinking you need to confine yourself to a cell on the 4th Street edge of the church, like Julian of Norwich did in Norwich, England (at least not unless you really want to ;-)

But perhaps in the months ahead we can do some exploration of what it means to draw closer and closer to God in the midst of our busy lives.

I wish all of you a most wonderful new year, and look forward, as we move into another year together, my fourth year with you, to surprising discoveries about our untapped spiritualities.

With You on the Journey,

Pastor Alana

Worship

PHRASES LIKE worship service and service of worship are tautologies. To worship God means to serve God. Basically, there are two ways to do it. One way is to do things for God that God needs to have done—run errands for God, carry messages for God, fight on God's side, feed God's lambs, and so on. The other way is to do things for God that you need to do—sing songs for God, create beautiful things for God, give things up for God, tell God what's on your mind and in your heart, in general rejoice in God and make a fool of yourself for God the way lovers have always made fools of themselves for the one they love.

A Quaker meeting, a pontifical High Mass, the family service at Zion Episcopal, a Holy Roller happening—unless there is an element of joy and foolishness in the proceedings, the time would be better spent doing something useful.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION – A YEAR IN REVIEW

We kicked off a new year of Sunday school with Rally Day and an ice cream social. The Christian education program continues to use "Seasons of The Spirit" curriculum. This curriculum is multi adaptive and provides the ability to teach all ages of our Sunday school students, who ranging in age from kindergarten through 8th grade and our teen helpers. Moreover, this curriculum also provides several hands-on, creative and adaptive activities that directly correspond with the lessons and scriptures each week.

Our nursery program continues to grow, and Olivia continues to be the primary caregiver in that classroom. Olivia has been instrumental this past year helping and going above and beyond to providing creative detail, volunteering and working with new families. In the event that Olivia is not able to attend services, we also have additional substitutes/volunteer caregivers.

This past year, we have seen an overall increase of new students, student and family participation and congregational involvement. Looking at the attendance data from Easter through May 20, 2018 there were 14 students including teenagers recorded. Looking at September through December 2018, we had 21 students including teenagers. We have welcomed new families, new volunteers and families that have returned.

Over the past year, the Christian education program has been very active creating, facilitating and overseeing family engagement, community outreach and congregational involvement through ongoing activities throughout the year. The Christian education program hosted a picnic, bonfire, movie nights, craft events, game nights and presented a beautiful Christmas program to name a few activities. There were approximately 14 Christian education students involved in this year's Christmas program. Also, our church participated in the community wide vacation Bible school program which was held at the Lutheran Church.

It has truly been a spectacular year filled with a lot of exciting events and activities. Looking ahead, it is the goal of the Christian education staff and volunteers to continue this trend by providing family activities, integrating the congregation and reaching out to the community.
